being exerted on that delivery being exerted on that delivery being to the bullish Government crop report and the favorable weather advices. There are many who hold that the difference between the price of the September and December deliveries is too great. Realising became heavy in the afternoon, wiping out early gains. Offerings were taken readily, thus showing the combined that the second that the se tures would sell higher. The Govern-ment report had little effect on the near-by months, because of the lightness of the stocks and the fact that there is little, if any chance that they will increase. Even though the market has been the greatest buil affair in history and prices the highest known, it is still being might be healthy, selling restrictions

Scarcity of Silk Goods Here.

Conditions in the local silk goods market are unusual. Except for small quantities of merchandiss distributed in various quarters of the trade the wholesalers have nothing to offer the market in search of goods. Offers were made by some of the large buyers yes—terday to place contracts for delivery as late as February, but manufacturers are steadily refusing to book such or ders on the plea of the uncertainty of prices.

In some centres it was said that prices are likely to advance again shortly on account of the increase in the price of raw silk and higher labor costs. Generally manufacturers are looking forward to an era of high prices for at least two seasons.

The board would undoubtedly repass the ordinance over the Mayor's veto if it had not adjourned for the summer. It is possible that a special meeting will have to be called for that purpose if it is found that the Mayor cannot withdraw his veto message.

By the Associated Press Paris, July 10.—Sub-Lieut, Jean Navarra, who was one of the first aces among the French aviators during the war, and who was withdrawn from the service because of his eccentric escapades, fell while flying in the vicinity of Versailles this afternoon and died soon after in a military hospital.

soon after in a military hospital. Lieut. Navarre was about to land at the airdrome at Villacoublay when, in trying to avoid a collision with other machines, his airplane crashed. Navare had not been attached to the military aviation forces for some time and was training for civilian flights.

Sub-Lieut. Navarre officially was credited with bringing down twelve enemy airplanes, although the Paris newspapers during the latter part of his service in the French Aviation Corps credited him with the destruction of nineteen. Several decorations were awarded to Lieut. Navarre by the French Government for his exploits in action against enemy aviators. In April, 1917, after his retirement from the service, he was arrested and placed in military prison charged with having run down several charged with having run down several policemen of Paris with his automobile. At the time it was reported that he would be examined by military experts. After his release, it was reported that he intended to go to the United States as an instructor in aviation.
